

2/14(火) & 2/28(火) ジョージア工科大学ジョイントセッション

Stacey Doremus / Georgia Institute of Technology, the Assistant Director for Leadership Education and Development Programs (LEAD) and Systems)

Stacey Doremus is the Assistant Director for Leadership Education and Development Programs (LEAD) and Systems at Georgia Institute of Technology. She works collaboratively with students, faculty and staff, as well as other universities to support the development and enrichment of student leadership skills through LEAD's program initiatives. She also assists with organizing the workshop for Tokyo Tech's Global Leadership Training Program at Georgia Tech. Prior to pursuing her passion for encouraging student leadership growth and development, Stacey held a variety of positions within the corporate world focusing on marketing and innovative product design and development. She currently has a professional affiliation with the International Leadership Association.